Be real

It's not about expertise. We are not perfect, but living out our faith in a genuine way inspires children to want this for themselves.

Be intentional

Finding simple ways to involve God naturally in everyday life encourages our children to know and love him.

Belong

Involving children at church and building relationships with others helps our children to feel they belong in God's family.

Prayer

Praying for our children and asking God to guide us as we parent is so important. We can look for opportunities to help them connect with God, but ultimately they are his children and he wants that relationship with them even more than we do.
